STATEMENT ISSUED BY THE ISLE OF MAN TT RACES

Following assessment by the event's Medical Team, Davey Todd has been declared medically unfit to compete in the 2026 Isle of Man TT Races.

The decision was made by a review panel composed of specialists in Emergency Medicine, Orthopaedics, and Trauma Surgery from Manx Roadracing Medical Services, the organisation responsible for providing medical services for the TT on behalf of ACU Events Ltd, Race Organiser of the Isle of Man TT Races.

The decision follows a detailed review process conducted over a number of weeks, with the cooperation of Davey and his treating clinicians.

Upon consideration of the available clinical and radiological evidence, the panel was not satisfied that the injuries sustained would recover sufficiently in advance of the event to safely tolerate the exceptional physical demands associated with competition on the TT Course.
